Bomb Hoax

Midnight phone call sends Cops into tizzy; Bomb squad searches City Railway Station

Police search Railway Station premises in city last night.

Mysuru, Feb.22 (RK&BCT)- A hoax call last midnight sent Cops into a tizzy with both the Government Railway Police (GRP) and Railway Protection Force (RPF) called in to search the premises of City Railway Station after a caller claimed that a bomb had been planted. The call was received at Railway Control Room located at the office of Railway Director General in Bengaluru at 1.50 am where a man said in Hindi that bombs have been placed at Railway Stations.

In the wake of Pulwama terror attacks by Pakistan-based militant organisation, the Railway authorities did not take the call lightly and alert was sounded across all Railway Stations in the State. Even the Mysuru Division Stations at Mysuru, Chamarajanagar and Shivamogga were searched.

Railway Safety Commissioner Kebbur told SOM that all trains and the Station, offices, escalators, toilets and ticket counters were thoroughly searched by over 50 personnel before it was declared as a hoax call. According to officials, as soon as the call was received, authorities alerted the GRP and RPF at the Station immediately.

Both teams with dog squads reached the Station along with anti-sabotage teams and started scanning the trains that had already arrived as well as incoming trains. No suspicious items were, however, found. The trains and Stations were checked, following which it was declared a hoax call.

However, security has been strengthened at the Station with a close eye being kept on all incoming trains, said a senior Railways official. Railway Police have registered a case and are tracing the phone number from which the call originated.

Prosperity amidst poverty

The saying, "It is not he who doesn't have wealth that is poor, but it is he who desires more that is poor," as a philosophy of life may neither go down well with the former nor convince the latter. We often hear from knowledgeable quarters that India is a rich country of poor people, a view that briefly portrays its population as a mix of billionaires and masses that are not sure of where from their next meal is materialising. Economists have a simple term, namely inequality, that has endured from times spanning several centuries past. The Italian Statistician and Sociologist Corrado Gini (1884-1965) proposed a measure, known as Gini coefficient to represent the dispersion of income earned by a nation's residents. His index, published in 1912, is the most commonly used measurement of inequality. Its value at zero expresses perfect equality, meaning, everyone has the same income. A Gini coefficient of 1 (or 100 per cent) expresses maximum inequality, meaning, only one person has all the income and all others have none. However, values of the coefficient close to 1 are very unlikely in practice and also, the measure says nothing about the specifics of the income distribution among the large number in the target population.

The feature of inequality, particularly in the matter of possessing wealth, doesn't seem to have spared even divine characters that are mentioned in the epics of the land. How that perky phenomenon was dealt with by humane acts such as charity makes a fascinating read but may not convince many wealthy individuals in our times.

Physical exertion to earn an income and the amount of wages for the work done have always witnessed an inverse relation between the two, in the scheme of things that human populations have done to themselves. White-collared jobs, sedentary in nature, attract wages many times of what the toil and sweat of the labour force can bring home. Yet another feature that society has chosen to take it in its strides is that families with sub-minimal income have been harbouring children in numbers that virtually mock at their poverty. Further, in order to turn a blind eye to the blues of life, the heads of such families resort to the heady stuff, only to take the dependants from the frying pan to the fire as it were.

Inequality in economic terms in many countries of the West and that in countries with unviable income per family such as India are in total contrast in many ways. India may host a mass languishing in abject poverty but it also hosts an enviable section in the population that comprises sentinels of the land's rich culture in the form of music, classical dance, literature, customs, food varieties and what have you, not to forget the time-honoured festivals even to this day, symbolising prosperity amidst poverty.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

The Indian society gets carried away by periodical social preferences for careers — for example, students entering engineering colleges. They eventually either drop out or end their professional education with meaningless degrees or zero employment. Only a limited percentage of the population possess appropriate managerial skills to promote small and medium industry and pursue quality self-employment. The problem arises when investment in certain areas are made without adequate planning. In the era of technology, suitable trained labour coupled with adequate managerial skills are required in the different fields. This is the only way to increase the percentage of quality employment.

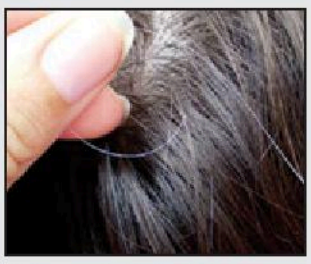
Woman eats live bugs daily to prevent cancer

California: A woman has been eating live bugs every day to boost her immunity and prevent cancer cells from growing.

The woman, identified as a mother-of three from Los Angeles, California, named Marcela Iglesias, believes that consuming live Chinese Weevils every day could be the best way to prevent cancer, treat chronic pain, arthritis and various digestive problems. Swallowing them alive is critical as these bugs allegedly release a toxin called "coleotoxin" when they die, and you want that to happen when they reach your digestive system.

This theory is supported by a 2011 study which found that coleotoxin reduced tumor cell growth by more than 70 per cent. That research is heavily contested by many in the scientific community, but Iglesias doesn't really care, saying that even if the bugs don't actually help prevent cancer, they are still a great source of protein.

Shop that plucks white hair



Tokyo: A white-hair-removal specialty shop in Tokyo, Japan, named Shiraganuki Main Store, charges people for the service of removing white hairs by hand.

It is a tedious work to pluck ones own grey hair and it is embarassing to ask someone else to do it. But the staff at Shiraganuki Main Store is more than happy to do it for you, if you're willing to pay them for it.

The store charges 3,980 yen ($36) for 30 minutes, 7,480 yen ($67) for 60 minutes, and an extra 1,000 yen ($9) for every 10 additional minutes.

Shiraganuki, which translates as "white hair removal", says that the number of white hair that can be pulled depends on the length of the hair and whether the person used any hair-styling products, but the store's staff pull between 30 and 70 hairs per 10 minutes, on average.

Install speed-breaker at this dangerous curve

Sir,

We Indians are positive in our thinking to such an extent that we throw caution to the winds only in the hope that "nothing will happen and everything will be okay." Many disasters can be averted if problems are foreseen and preventive actions are taken. I would like to draw the attention of the authorities to the 12-km stretch of Manandavadi Road (H.D. Kote Road). After the chaotic Parasayyanahundi Junction (an intersection crying for attention) the 12-km drive to Jayapura is dotted with many schools along the highway.

The road has a sharp curve immediately after Mount Litera Zee School. This is posing a danger to the road users and buses while turning into the school and coming out of it during peak hours. The school management has been persuading the local authorities in vain for having a speed breaker before this curve to ensure safety to all stakeholders.

I once again appeal to the authorities to look into this matter and take action.

1.17 million forest families must be evicted, says SC

New Delhi, Feb. 22- The Supreme Court has asked the governments of 17 States to evict an estimated one million tribals and other households living in forests after their claims of the right to live in forests were rejected under the Forest Rights Act.

The Court has asked the evictions to be carried out by July 12 and directed the Dehradun-based Forest Survey of India to submit a satellite-image-based report on the encroachments removed.

A Bench of Justices — Arun Mishra, Navin Sinha and Indira Banerjee directed Chief Secretaries of various States, including Karnataka, to explain as why after the rejection of the claims, which have attained finality, eviction has not been made.

According to affidavits filed by the States in the Top Court, about 11,72,931 (1.17 million) land ownership claims made by Scheduled Tribes and other traditional forest dwellers under the Forest Rights Act have been rejected on various grounds, including absence of proof that the land was in their possession for at least three generations.

The law provides for giving land rights to those living on forest land for at least three generations before Dec. 31, 2005. The claims are examined by a committee headed by the District Collector and having Forest Department officials as members.

Chamarajanagar Deputy Commissioner B.B. Cauvery and Zilla Panchayat Chief Executive Officer Dr. K. Harish Kumar at a tribal hamlet at Bedaguli in Chamarajanagar during their recent visit. During their interaction, the tribals demanded full implementation of Forest Rights Act and its provision of land sanction for tribals.

In Karnataka, 48,432 claims have been filed by Scheduled Tribes and 2,27,014 by 'Other Traditional Forest Dwellers' (OTFDs). Out of these, 35,521 claims of STs and 1,41,019 claims of OTFDs have been rejected.

"The Chief Secretary shall ensure that where the rejection orders have been passed, eviction will be carried out on or before the next date of hearing. In case the eviction is not carried out, as aforesaid, the matter would be viewed seriously by this Court," the Bench said in its order passed on Feb. 13.

Dealing with a 2008 writ petition filed by NGO 'Wildlife First' and others, the Court directed for filing of the requisite affidavit with necessary details on or before July 12, 2019. It ordered the States where the verification or re-verification or review process was pending to do the needful within four months and report back to the Court.

Youth arrested for trying to cheat finance, insurance company by lodging false complaint

Mysuru, Feb. 22 (KS)- Lashkar Police have arrested a youth on charges of lodging a false complaint about his scooter being stolen to cheat the finance and insurance company. They have seized the scooter from him.

The accused has been identified as 19-year-old Khiser Pasha, a resident of Erekatte Street, Pulakeshi Road in Mandi Mohalla in city.

On Feb. 18, Khiser had lodged a complaint with Mandi Police that his Suzuki Access 125 scooter (KA-55-Y-3756) has been stolen and the Police took up the investigation.

When the Police visited Srirama Finance, which had given loan to purchase the scooter and enquired with the officials, they came to know that Khiser had not paid a single instalment for the loan.

The Cops, who later enquired about Khiser, came to know that he (Khiser) was moving around on a Suzuki Access scooter without a number plate.

Based on the information, Lashkar Police, on Feb. 20 conducted a checking drive near Good Shepherd Convent, saw Khiser coming on a scooter without the number plate and took him into custody for enquiry.

During interrogation, Khiser is said to have revealed that he had purchased the scooter after taking loan from Srirama Finance besides stating that he had only paid the initial amount (down payment) and had not paid any instalment for the loan.

The Police also came to know that he had pledged the scooter with one Imran and later stole the scooter by using duplicate key and was moving around on the same scooter by removing the registration plate.

The accused also told the Police that he and his parents had conspired to cheat the finance and insurance company and also the person with whom he had pledged the scooter.

Lashkar Inspector N. Muniyappa, ASI Srinivas, CCB ASI Chandregowda and staff Parashivamurthy, Lokesh, Pradeep and Pratheep were part of the operation.

Greens plan 'no trees, no water' campaign tomorrow

Protest to be held at Freedom Park, Bengaluru

Bengaluru, Feb.22- With about 21 lakh trees facing the axe to make way for various development projects across Karnataka, 23 environment groups have come together under the banner of United Conservation Movement (UCM) to save forests.

On February 23, an event, 'No trees, no water' will be held at Freedom Park here. Environmentalists said, UCM was conceived during the 'Save Bandipur' campaign. "We're now rallying support to sensitise the sanctity of retaining Western Ghats as it is. A State-wide rally spreading the message, the event will be held at select locations to create awareness among the youth," they added.

They pointed out that Karnataka was India's second driest State after Rajasthan, with large tracts of the Central and North-Eastern part being semi-arid.

"Malnad range (Western Ghats) gives birth to 65 rivers, and serves as the water tank of State. It is under attack, and various linear and other invasive projects planned will require cutting of 21 lakh trees all over Karnataka in the not-too-distant future. Most probably, rivers which are already flowing with reduced volumes, will dry up and die," they noted.

The organisations part of UCM are: The Wilderness Club, Centre for Environment and Wildlife Studies, Forest First, Centre for Awareness and Nature Study, Nature First Eco-Village, Coorg Wildlife Society, Save Kodagu and Cauvery Campaign, Aikyam Community for Sustainable Living, Coalition for Water Security, Citizens Agenda for Bengaluru and Cricketers for Tiger Conservation.

The single-minded purpose of the UCM will be to protect trees and water sources from ill-conceived, intrusive, big projects that have the potential to destroy water security.

Besides which, they will collaborate with and encourage the Government to look at future-friendly, people-friendly models of development.

At the Event, environmentalists, amid concerned citizens, will share their expert views on many pressing ecological issues and make plans on how to protect the trees and water of the Western Ghats, for the future.

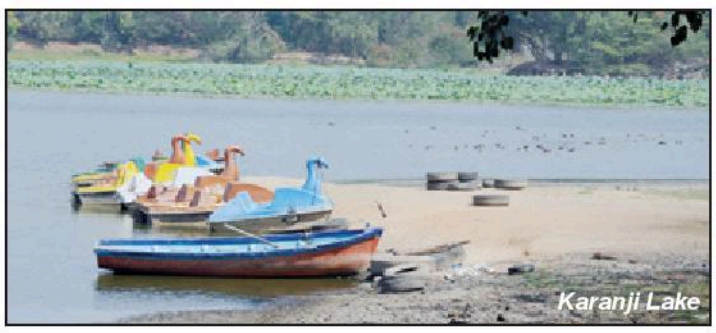
Saving Karanji Lake, in a Sad Way!

Luck seems to have run out for our Karanji Lake, though not completely. It is a place which I visit on most mornings with my wife. While she goes there for her morning walk, I go there for my morning stroll. Yes, there is a difference in our missions. While she spends her time there walking briskly to get her exercise like most other morning walkers, I spend my time strolling at a rather leisurely pace, getting more exercise for my mind than body.



Karanji Lake

To tell you the truth, being a bookworm, I'm actually not much of a walker, preferring any day to take my car out for its morning walk than for my own! I stop to look at every bird, wondering why it keeps bobbing its head or wagging its tail the way it does or to look at every bamboo shoot, making a mental record of how much it has grown in a week. From the waterside bench on which I sit and read my newspaper I also try to pry into the private life of a pair of nesting crows that is now trying to start a family. But, mind you, being the respectable man that I am, I do this only from a very respectable distance as the tree on which they have built their nest is on an island in the centre of the lake. I also try to count as accurately as possible the number of migratory pelicans that have now made the lake their home for the past one month while simultaneously assessing the growth and development of the many baby spot-bill ducks that abound there. It is a real joy to watch their antics. Very often, a lame peacock that only walks with much difficulty accosts me and perches itself on the back of my bench peering over my shoulder into my newspaper. Whenever it feels that there is nothing more to read it jumps off and scampers away! A fellow daily walker, Rajinder Jain, who meets me often, says that my peacock friend seems to have a special kinship with me as he never sees it going close to anyone else. When I am done with the birds I look down at the many kinds of bugs and ants scampering around my feet to see what they are having for their breakfast! If I find a snail I spend a good deal of my time observing how much like me it leisurely explores its surroundings with its antennae before crawling to its destination. Now, the destinations of snails are a topic about which I simply know nothing, simply because I never have enough time to see where they end their journeys! Occasionally, when I am lucky enough to find a spider I stand and watch how deftly it builds its delicate but deadly web without getting the sticky strands entangled one bit. I envy it very much because it is always such a difficult task for me to get the wires of my mobile phone and camera chargers untangled whenever I take them out of my travel bag. But most of all, during my observations at Karanji I never fail to make a note of the water level in the lake. This I do by checking which rock it touches on the sides of the nearest island and I have found this to be an accurate enough method to serve my purpose. Now, if all that I do here is not enough exercise for one mind on one day I do not know what else is. I have noticed that unlike in the past many years, this year the water level in the lake has been dipping rapidly even before the summer has set in. This is largely due to the stoppage of the inflow of raw sewage through the open drain that runs directly from Siddhartha Nagar to the lake. I was very distressed over the past few years that such a pristine lake had been turned into a virtual cess pool and had even written a couple of articles about it which sadly did not change its sorry state. What was most alarming was that the Zoo authorities had even allowed commercial fishing in such a contaminated lake. It is good that someone in power has finally realised that raw sewage is not very good for the health of our water bodies and has taken some corrective action. But now that there is no inflow of water into the lake, it seems destined to dry up completely and remain so all through the three hot summer months till the rains replenish it once again. But if this is allowed to happen, all the aquatic flora and fauna in and around it will perish which is a tragedy that needs to be averted at all costs. This can only be done by pumping in fresh water into the lake periodically which seems very impracticable because of the scarcity of water during the summer months. So the next best thing to do seems to be to pump in safely treated sewage water which is exactly what the Zoo authorities are now planning to do according to a recent press report. It is only a much compromised solution because the idea of keeping alive a water body with a diet of sewage seems rather sad. So I am inclined to helplessly say that trying to do some good is sometimes better than doing nothing. However, I would like to add here that the idea of pumping water from the sewage treatment plant only till the base of the Chamundi Hill and then let gravity do the work through the Rajakaluves seems rather far-fetched as more than half the water is likely to be lost en-route through seepage and percolation. Nothing will work as efficiently as a direct pipeline all the way. So if a pipeline is laid from a tank at the base of the hill till the very edge of the lake, gravity can then be expected to do a free job. But we should not stop here. We should look back into how this beautiful lake that was artificially built by our far-sighted Maharajas along with the Kukkarahalli Lake to increase the water table within the city, survived on its own over the last one hundred years and try to give it a new and more respectable lease of life!

A parting shot from the General !

After my last article in the special issue of the Star of Mysore about how patients these days read about their symptoms and then also check their doctors' advice and prescriptions on the internet, I received this cartoon from Maj. MCC Budget on Feb.28

Mysuru, Feb.22 (RK&SR)- Amid complaints of delay over presentation of Budget for the year 2019-20, Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) has decided to table the Budget on Feb.28.

MCC has finalised the date and it will conduct the meeting on the same day at 11 am at its Council Hall. It also decided to issue the notice to all 65 Corporators to attend meeting without fail.

Mayor Pushpalatha Jagannath will preside over the meeting. Finance and Taxation Standing Committee Chairperson Shobha Sunil will present the Budget 2019-20.

Sources told Star of Mysore, MCC will give impetus to development of parks, to contain stray cattle, drinking water and sanitation issues. They also told that there will be no mention of new projects, schemes during this year Budget.

Earlier, MCC had scheduled the Budget presentation meeting on Feb.23 and postponed to 26 as it must give enough time for consultations with Corporators.

The other reason for the delay in presentation of the Budget is that MCC expected that the Election Commission of India (ECI) would announce the notification for LS polls on Feb.27 leading to postponement.

As ECI has plans to announce the notification on Mar.5, MCC has decided to present the Budget on Feb.28.

MCC will further postpone the date of presentation of the Budget in case if ECI announces the notification on Feb.27 as publicised itself.

It may be recalled that many Corporators had expressed displeasure over the delay in the presentation of the Budget.

Museum plans afoot at foot of Ch. Hill

Ministers, MP, officials discuss implementation of Centre's PRASAD scheme

Mysuru, Feb.22 (RK&BCT)- In the wake of Centre choosing the iconic Chamundeshwari Temple atop Chamundi Hill under its holistic Pilgrimage Rejuvenation and Spiritual, Heritage Augmentation Drive (PRASAD) to develop without spoiling its surrounding ecosystem, a meeting was held at the Deputy Commissioner's Office this morning to discuss the speedy implementation of the project.

The meeting was chaired by Mysuru District Minister G.T. Devegowda and was attended by Tourism Minister S.R. Mahesh, Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha, Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar and a host of officials. PRASAD is a fully Central Government-funded scheme where Rs.100 crore will be granted towards development of temples.

Infrastructure Development Corporation-Karnataka (iDeCK) Limited is preparing a blueprint for the project and today, a power-point (PPT) presentation was made for projects that can be taken up with Rs.49.95 crore. A new eco-friendly and greenery-focussed development will take place atop the Hill.

The highlight of today's meeting was the construction of a museum-cum-information centre (Integrated Interpretation and Command Centre). The PPT presentation mentioned the availability of 22 acres of Government land at the foot of the Hill where the museum can be established. The information centre will have a collection of resources that represent Mysuru and will give an idea to the tourists about the historical and mythical significance of Mysuru.

As part of the PRASAD project, parking of visitors' vehicles will be shifted to the foot of Chamundi Hill and devotees can use powerful battery-operated vehicles to reach atop the Hill. No vehicle will be allowed up the Hill. "We will follow the Tirupati model where battery-operated vehicles are being used in a phased manner. The focus will be on maintenance of ecology and sustainable developmental activities including maximum utilisation of renewable energy," Tourism Minister Mahesh told the meeting.

DPR BY MONTH-END

Apart from beautifying the Hill, areas like Devikere and Uthanahalli, Nandi Circle, Gopura and viewpoints will be beautified to attract more and more tourists. The meeting resolved to prepare a Detailed Project Report (DPR) by Feb.28 and call for tenders before the Lok Sabha Election Model Code of Conduct comes into effect.

An inspection of the Chamundi foothill will take place tomorrow at 6.30 am where Minister Mahesh and officials will discuss the modalities of project implementation.

MUDA Commissioner P.S. Kantharaju, MCC Commissioner Shilpa Nag, Tourism Director Priyanka Mary Francis, Heritage Commissioner T. Venkatesh, Zilla Panchayat CEO Jyothi, Deputy Commissioner of Police (Crime and Traffic) Dr. Vikram V. Amathe, Tahsildar T. Ramesh Babu and other officials attended the meeting.

Closed-door meeting with MRC officials

After the meeting to discuss Pilgrimage Rejuvenation and Spiritual, Heritage Augmentation Drive (PRASAD) scheme, Ministers G.T. Devegowda and S.R. Mahesh had a closed-door meeting with the officers from Mysore Race Club (MRC).

Later speaking to reporters, Mahesh said that the MRC officials were told to demolish illegal stables that have been constructed inside the Race Club. "Many times the MRC has been told to demolish the stables that have been illegally constructed in a Government land that has been given to MRC on lease. Despite this, they have not complied with the orders and deadlines have been violated repeatedly," he said.

"What the MRC has done is illegal. They should make separate arrangements for horse stables. As horses are being housed here, the animals in the nearby Zoo are facing the threat of various diseases and infections. We have told MRC to obey the Government orders if it wants cooperation from the Government side," the Minister added.

Three-day World Summit

on Sustainable Development begins

University of Mysore Vice-Chancellor Prof. G. Hemantha Kumar (centre) releasing the proceedings during the Multidisciplinary World Summit at Senate Bhavan in Manasagangothri in city this morning as UGC Member Prof. Sushma Yadav, World Summit Directors Dr. K.S. Shivachittappa, Dr. Desti Kannaiah, UoM Registrar Dr. Lingaraj Gandhi, Registrar (Evaluation) Prof. K. Mahadevan and others look on.

Mysuru, Feb.22 (RKB&NNN)- "Sustainable Development must inter-link poverty, population pressure and degradation of environmental resources. The conclusion reached by the Brundtland Commission is that the problems could be addressed only if these three are taken into account collectively," said Prof. Sushma Yadav, Member, University Grants Commission and Vice Chancellor, Bhagat Phool Singh Mahila Vishwavidyalaya, Sonepat, Haryana.

She was delivering the presidential address during the inaugural function of a three-day Multidisciplinary World Summit on Resource Management and Sustainable Development, organised by the University of Mysore in association with Maharani's Arts College for Women, James Cook University, Singapore and International Council for Development Research at the Senate Bhavan in Manasagangothri campus, here this morning and said that India is booming and sustainable developmentbecomesmoreimportant.

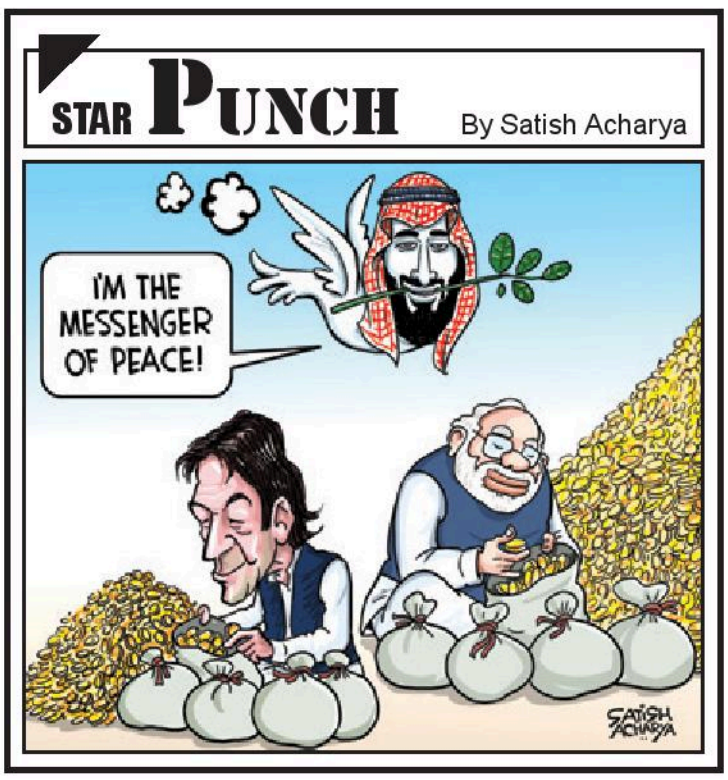
"Natural resources are depleting at alarming rates because of their irrational use pattern. Rural communities in particular are greatly affected by the increasing use of natural resources. To many of them development is about livelihood and survival rather than increasing productivity and accumulation of wealth," she pointed out.

Earlier, University of Mysore Vice Chancellor Prof. G. Hemantha Kumar inaugurated the programme and released the proceedings. He said that sustainable development is important for entire humanity and for future generations as it will have a great impact on social and economic development.

Campus Dean of James Cook University, Singapore Dr. Abhishek Singh Bhati delivered the keynote address.

Directors of the World Summit Dr. K.S. Shivachittappa and Dr. Desti Kannaiah, Organising Secretary Dr. Reshma Chengappa, James Cook University, Singapore Business Department Head Dr. K. Thirumaran, Sri Lanka Ministry of Science and Technology Advisor Prof. S.K. Cyril Suduwella, University of Mysore Registrar Dr. Lingaraj Gandhi, Registrar (Evaluation) Prof. K.M. Mahadevan, SBI Shivarampet Branch Manager B.S. Murthy, TVS Motor Company General Manager C.K. Nataraj and others were present.

Delegates from Singapore, USA, Delhi, TN and other parts of the country including students are participating in the summit.



JD(S)-BJP decide to continue alliance in Mysuru ZP

Mysuru, Feb.22 (SBD&RKB) - Even as the JD(S) has aligned with the Congress in forming the State Government, the JD(S) in a different stance in respect of Mysuru, on Thursday decided to continue with its alliance in Mysuru ZP, with the ZP Presidential polls scheduled to take place tomorrow (Feb.23).

JD(S) leaders, who held two meetings yesterday one at Jaladarshini Guest House and another at a private hotel, held prolonged discussions and ultimately decided to continue the party's alliance with the BJP in Mysuru ZP, thus debunking the efforts of Congress to forge an alliance with the JD(S).

With the JD(S)-Congress coalition government in power in the State, the Congress was making repeated efforts to ally with the JD(S) in Mysuru ZP too, the home district of former Chief Minister and CLP leader Siddharamaiah.

District Minister G.T. Devegowda, Tourism Minister S.R. Mahesh and State JD(S) President A.H. Vishwanath held first round of meeting with JD(S) ZP members and other leaders of the district at Jaladarashini Guest House, during which most of the ZP members opposed an alliance with the Congress, following which another round of meeting was held at a private hotel, where it was ultimately decided to continue the alliance with BJP.

With top JD(S) leaders of the district stamping the JD(S)-BJP alliance, the JD(S) will get the President post, while the BJP will have the Vice-President post, a formula which has been in existence since the JD(S)-BJP alliance came to power in Mysuru ZP – following the polls held in February 2016.

With the JD(S) deciding to continue its alliance with the BJP, now all eyes will be on tomorrow's Presidential polls.

The ZP President's post has been reserved for BCM (A) woman candidate, while the Vice-President's post is reserved for General category.

JD(S) member Parimala Shyam who was elected from Antarasanthe seat in H.D. Kote Taluk is the likely candidate for the President post, as the JD(S) does not have another candidate belonging to BCM (A) woman category.

Even as Parimala Shyam of the JD(S) is almost certain to become the ZP President, the BJP is yet to decide on its candidate for the Vice-President post. The BJP may choose. Tagaduru ZP member Sadananda or Guruswamy, who represents Hadinaru seat as its candidate for the Vice-President post.

S.R. Mahesh defends alliance with BJP

Meanwhile, Tourism Minister S.R. Mahesh has defended the decision to continue the alliance with the BJP.

Speaking to presspersons at Mysuru this Morning, Mahesh maintained that the JD(S) had given word to the BJP on continuing the alliance and the JD(S) has taken its decision accordingly.

Claiming that the alliance with the BJP at Mysuru ZP will have no impact on the JD(S) –Congress coalition government, Mahesh said the decision to go with the BJP was taken as most of the JD(S) members favoured it.

'Audio clip' case

HC grants interim stay on FIR filed against BSY and three others

Kalaburagi, Feb.22- The Kalaburagi Bench of the Karnataka High Court, this morning granted interim stay to the FIR filed by Devadurga Police against State BJP Chief B.S. Yeddyurappa, Devadurga BJP MLA Shivanagouda Naik, Hassan BJP MLA Preetham Gowda and a senior Journalist, in connection with the 'audio clip' case, in which the four BJP leaders are said to have spoken about poaching JD(S) and Congress MLAs by offering huge sums of money.

The High Court order has come as a huge relief for B.S. Yeddyurappa, who has been tasked by the BJP High Command of winning at least 20 seats from the State in the forthcoming Lok Sabha Polls, that is considered as crucial for the BJP, which is hoping to retain power under Prime Minister Narendra Modi's leadership.

State River Water is not as safe as you think

- Karnataka State Pollution Control Board releases river pollution statistics
- Cauvery, Kabini, Lakshmanatheertha are among polluted rivers
- Conventional treatment, disinfection process must before consumption

Coffee pulp waste is being discharged illegally to River Cauvery at Siddapura in Kodagu.

Kushalnagar, Feb.22 (AG& BCT)- Think before you take a sip of river water. The water you drink or use for your daily needs may not be as safe as you think. With more than millions of litres of sewage water and pollutants entering rivers in Karnataka annually, one can only imagine the level of contamination.

A report released by Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB) in the second week of February states that not a single river in Karnataka contains water that is potable without conventional treatment. The report reveals river classification data of December 2018 collated by KSPCB. Of the 94 samples collected from 19 rivers in Karnataka, not one was classified 'Class A' which indicates potable water. Around 15 samples were classified as 'Class D' and River Cauvery is classified under 'Class C'. The report states that release of domestic and industrial waste in the Storm Water Drains (SWD) is the main reason for the deterioration of reserved water bodies.

The water quality stretch is evaluated based on the criteria of designated best use and activities in the river. The water quality monitoring results are analysed with respect to the indicator of oxygen consuming substances (bio-chemical demand) and indicator of pathogenic bacteria (total coliform and faecal coliform). The water is classified as 'Class C' if pathogenic bacteria content is more than 60 percent. If there is an improvement of 16 percent, the water is classified as 'Class B.'

If the water is classified as 'Class C,' it is fit for drinking only with conventional treatment followed by disinfection. While River Cauvery is classified under 'Class C' and 'Class B' (fit for drinking with treatment) till it reaches Hunsur from its origin passing through Kushalnagar, at a stretch near Hunsur, it is classified as 'Class E' that is unfit for human consumption. River Lakshmanatheertha joins Cauvery here.

Cauvery water from Ranganathittu Bird Sanctuary till Sathegala Bridge near Malavalli has been classified as 'Class C' while the water from Triveni Sangama at Bhagamandala to Srirangapatna has been graded as 'Class B.'

Regarding Lakshmanatheertha River that flows from Kodagu and passes through Hunsur, the water quality from Hunsur to Kattemalavadi in Hunsur has been graded 'Class C.' In River Kabini, the water quality at Nanjangud Bathing Ghat is classified as 'Class E' and 'Class D' (suitable for fisheries and wildlife). At T. Narasipur, the water quality has been classified as 'Class C.'

The monitoring of rivers is done on a monthly basis under National Water Quality Monitoring Programme (NWMP). This programme is executed by Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB), in collaboration with KSPCB. Water samples are analysed for 28 parameters, which include 9 core parameters, 19 physico-chemical and bacteriological parameters along with field observations. Besides this, eight trace metals and 15 pesticides are analysed once a year to assess the water quality.

The water quality monitoring network is operated under two programmes — Global Environment Monitoring System (GEMS- 5 locations) and Monitoring of Indian National Aquatic Resources System (MINARS- 58 locations). There are 63 stations across the State for the purpose.

POLLUTING FACTORS

Regarding River Cauvery, release of sewage into rivers due to absence of toilets in villages situated on the banks of the river is the biggest culprit. Also, at Srirangapatna due to immersion of ashes of dead bodies is causing the river to pollute.

There are several tile factories and service station at Kushalnagar-Suntikoppa-Madikeri stretch where waste water is drained into Cauvery. Along with automobile waste, dust and fine particles-laden tile waste is let into water.

COFFEE PULP

This is coffee picking and processing season and the residents of Siddapura coffee belt have alleged that coffee pulp waste is being let into the Cauvery River flowing through the town by estate owners in the area. Residents alleged that the waste water is being allowed to run into the river through a canal built to let rainwater run into the river.

As per law, estate owners must store coffee pulping waste and are prohibited to let it into the river and according to environmentalists, coffee pulp waste can be hazardous to marine ecology. Following reports in social media about the pulp being discharged into Cauvery, Social Welfare Minister Priyank Kharge recently instructed the Kodagu DC to look into the matter immediately.

Following the Minister's directive, Kodagu District Administration officials visited the riverbed near Siddapura and found a drain where the pulp was discharged into the river at Karadigodu village.

"A spot inspection was ordered and the Pollution Control Board officials have carried it out. A notice has been issued to the estate owner and further steps will be taken in this regard," Kodagu Deputy Commissioner Annies Kanmani Joy told reporters.

Dr. M.K. Sudha, Deputy Environmental Officer and Environmental Officer In-charge of Kodagu District told Star of Mysore that the River Rejuvenation Committee has already started to protect Cauvery from pollution and many measures have been taken for waste management.

"Cauvery now is polluted due to the discharge of coffee pulp from estates directly into river along with sewage flow from towns and dumping of garbage on the river bed. Moreover, it is summer and once the rainy season starts, harmful elements in the water will be washed away," she said.

The polluted and water hyacinth-covered Lakshmanatheertha River near Hunsur.
